BULLISH NEWS FAILS TO BOOST MARKET

and Profit Taking Account for Weakness.

CHICAGO, March 30 .- A vast amount demand for the cash grain was almost entirely absent, and this, together with profit taking, accounted for the intermittent weakness. The market was heavy at the start because of the comparative weakness of the Liverpool market compared with the bulge here, but the market soon railied on buying inspired to some extent by a report of a local crop expert, which showed that the fall-sown crop of wheat has improved during the winter in the Ohio river valley, but deprectated materially in Missouri and Texas, and to a less extent in kansas and Oklahoma. Sentiment again became bearish during the final hour and the close was almost at the bottom.

During the day May sold between $1.18 and $1.194, while July ranged between $1.054 and $1.0540.1051.

Claims of an improved eastern demand for the cash grain caused considerable firmness in corn carly, but later a weaker tone developed. At the close prices were a shade higher to $\frac{1}{2}62\) close, Trade in oats was not so active as that in the wheat or corn pits, but the volume demand for the cash grain was almost

Trade in oats was not so active as that Trade in oats was not so active as that in the wheat or corn pits, but the volume of business nevertheless was not insignificant. The market was rather weak the greater part of the session and closed at net losses of $\delta_0^2$ to $\delta_0$, with May at $\delta_0^2$ to and July at $47c.

Provisions were weak all day. At the close prices were $\delta_0^2$ for to 20c lower, compared with yesterday's close.

for it. Cabbage has been rather scarce for some weeks past, as have also been potatoes.

A shipment of potatoes is expected by the end of the week from Davis county. The vegetable retails at 25c a peck. The west weather has made it impossible for the farmers to bring their potatoes into the city, owing to the muddy roads, and this has been the main cause for the searcity.

There was a good supply of California strawberries on the market Tuesday, and dealers offered them at 20c a box. Some dealers offered them at 20c a bo

Cotton Letter.

Cotton Letter.

James A. Pollock & Co., bankers and brokers, 6 West Second South street, furnish the following, received over their private wire yesterday:

L & B. Cotton Letter-New York—Prompted by better cables than expected the American market showed some five to seven points higher at opening this morning, and except for some liquidation of long cotton, which took place during the day, market would have done considerably better. The Texas drouth situation continues unrelieved and there is some acceleration of spot demand which promises to develop in sufficient force to prevent any serious decline in values from present levels. On the other hand, shorts who have committed themselves largely to the delivery of cotton which they did not own, they found themselves in a rather embarrassing attitude, and at this level are considerable losers. There can be no doubt that cotton will find a new high level within the next few days unless some unforeseen circumstances should prevent. The statistical position of the staple grows more meritorious every day. The stocks at five interior towns during the day showed a loss of 7000 bales cotton, as compared with a loss of 3000 for the same time last year. Ports are gradually growing smaller and holders of spot cotton are less worrled about offering it. Spinners on the other hand are indifferent about buying it, the recent dip in prices being such that they are not willing to pay the advance.
